

The Social Housing Safety Network Scotland MEMBER ROUND-UP

Annual Conference 2024: Save the dates!

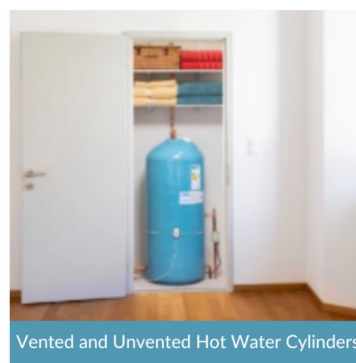

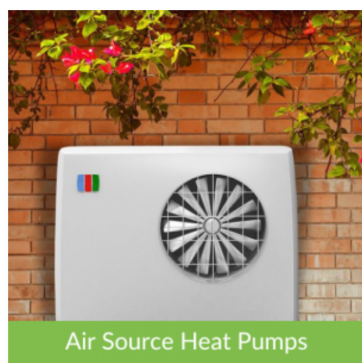

After the great success of last year's inaugural Tenant & Resident Safety Annual Conference, we've already started planning this year's! Please add the dates to your diary and stay tuned for further updates!

New member benefit: Knowledge Builders

We're delighted to announce we have launched three of our 'Self-study Knowledge Builders' - with free access for members!

Our 'short and punchy' e-Learning style self-study knowledge builders will last around 15 minutes and give you some key facts and 'need to knows' about a specific subject area.

Visit the website to find out more.

For a reminder of the rest of your member benefits, please visit the website here. Over the coming weeks we will be contacting member organisations to ensure you are able to make the most of the membership benefits and gather any feedback you may have which would enable us to continue to make sure network membership is as valuable as possible.

Document library...

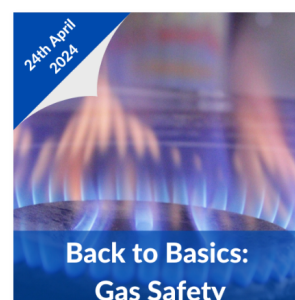

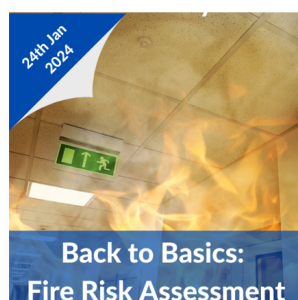

One of the benefits of membership is access to our document library; we're always looking for more to add to the library so make sure you check back regularly to see what's new. You can view the library here.

Some content requires you to be logged in to view. If you need a reminder of your login details, please email network@scotlandsafetynetwork.scot

Free member webinars

Our 'Back to Basics' series of webinars will take a look at a specific safety-related subject and tell you what you should be doing to comply with the Regulations and standards – sometimes, it's about more than holding a certificate or assessment and ticking a box...

Asbestos updates from HSE

On the topic of asbestos, there are a couple of recent HSE updates which we feel members would find useful.

Where Asbestos Hides

Asbestos is the greatest cause of work-related deaths in Great Britain. Around 5,000 people die every year from asbestos-related diseases which typically take decades to develop and cannot be cured.

HSE have designed posters and diagrams to raise awareness of asbestos-related health risks. They aim to inform workers of the most common locations asbestos can be found in industrial and residential buildings. Whether you are a worker, building owner, landlord, employer or person responsible for building maintenance, you should be aware of where asbestos is most frequently found in buildings in order to protect yourself and others.

HSE launches 'Asbestos – Your Duty' campaign

HSE has launched a new campaign to highlight the risk of asbestos in buildings and raise awareness of the legal duty to manage those risks.

Asbestos can become dangerous when disturbed or damaged. However, people who work in or visit buildings containing asbestos will not be exposed to asbestos if it is properly managed.

HSE's 'Asbestos – Your Duty' campaign targets those responsible for managing asbestos in the building (dutyholders).

The dutyholder could be the building owner, the landlord for the premises, the business owner, or the person or organisation with clear responsibility for the building's maintenance or repair.

A few simple questions can help identify if you have a legal duty to manage asbestos.

The duty to manage asbestos ensures workers and building users are protected from the risks of exposure to asbestos.

To support dutyholders, HSE recently updated their web pages and provided a range of resources.
